Major Anomalies

SLV — Silver ETF -8.08%

Cause: Silver dropped sharply due to its dual nature as both industrial and precious metal, hit by growth fears and gold decline.

Forward Impact: Silver may continue to underperform gold given industrial demand concerns, but could rebound if risk appetite returns.

ETH-USD — Ethereum +7.50%

Cause: Ethereum surged alongside Bitcoin, with additional momentum from positive network upgrades and DeFi activity.

Forward Impact: Ethereum may outperform Bitcoin in the near term due to its utility, but faces similar volatility risks.

XLK — Technology ETF -6.66%

Cause: Technology sector hit hardest by geopolitical fears and potential supply chain disruptions.

Forward Impact: Sector may see further downside if conflict escalates, but could rebound quickly on any positive news.

QQQ — Nasdaq 100 ETF -4.80%

Cause: Sharp decline in tech stocks due to geopolitical uncertainty and profit-taking after recent rally.

Forward Impact: Tech sector may remain under pressure until geopolitical tensions ease, but long-term fundamentals remain intact.

BTC-USD — Bitcoin +3.90%

Cause: Bitcoin rallied as a safe-haven alternative amid geopolitical turmoil and equity sell-off.

Forward Impact: Bitcoin could continue to benefit from risk-off flows, but remains highly volatile and sensitive to regulatory news.

UNG — Natural Gas ETF -3.71%

Cause: Natural gas declined amid mild weather forecasts and profit-taking after recent gains.

Forward Impact: Natural gas may remain weak in near term due to seasonal demand, but supply tightness could provide support.

GLD — Gold ETF -3.65%

Cause: Gold fell as strong US jobs data and ceasefire hopes reduced safe-haven demand.

Forward Impact: Gold likely to remain volatile, with support from geopolitical risks but capped by strong dollar and rate expectations.

IWM — Russell 2000 ETF -3.55%

Cause: Small-cap stocks sold off amid risk-off sentiment and concerns over economic slowdown.

Forward Impact: Small caps could underperform until clarity on interest rates and geopolitical situation emerges.

USO — Oil ETF -2.72%

Cause: Oil prices fell on reports of potential ceasefire and easing of supply disruption fears.

Forward Impact: Oil likely to stay volatile with geopolitical headlines, but supply constraints may limit downside.

SPY — S&P 500 ETF -2.58%

Cause: Broad equity sell-off driven by geopolitical tensions from Israel-Iran conflict and tech sector weakness.

Forward Impact: Continued volatility expected as geopolitical risks persist, but potential for recovery if ceasefire talks progress.

Hot Now

- XLK — XLK: Strong 1m gain despite recent pullback, tech leadership intact
- XLV — XLV: Positive across all timeframes, defensive bid
- XLE — XLE: Positive 5d and 1m, energy resilience

Cold but Worth Watching

- XLY — XLY: Sharp 5d and 1m decline, oversold potential
- XLC — XLC: Weak momentum, but mean-reversion possible
- XLB — XLB: Negative across timeframes, commodity sensitivity

Defensive sectors like healthcare and utilities are gaining as growth/tech corrects, while consumer discretionary and communication services are deeply oversold and may bounce.

Daily Conclusion

Risk-off sentiment dominates as a sharp tech-led selloff in South Korea cascades into U.S. equities, while precious metals and energy assets surge on flight-to-safety flows.
