1. Global 2026 oil supply shortfall to deepen as Hormuz reopening remains elusive, IEA says - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 13:45

The IEA projects a deeper global oil supply shortfall in 2026, as the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz remains unlikely, tightening market balances and supporting crude prices.

2. Saudi Red Sea oil exports go dark as Houthi attack threat grows - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 18:49

Saudi oil exports via the Red Sea have halted due to heightened Houthi attack threats, disrupting tanker traffic and adding risk premium to regional crude shipments.

3. Trump says US has 'total control' over Strait of Hormuz - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 14:39

President Trump claims the US has 'total control' over the Strait of Hormuz, a statement that may influence oil market sentiment despite ongoing geopolitical tensions.

4. Hormuz shipping traffic falls to one-week low amid hostilities - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 05:18

Shipping traffic through the Strait of Hormuz has dropped to a one-week low amid hostilities, reducing crude flow visibility and increasing supply disruption fears.

5. US July deficit tops $432 billion as outlays grow, tariff receipts stay negative - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 18:05

The US federal deficit for July exceeded $432 billion, driven by rising outlays and negative tariff receipts, signaling fiscal strain that could pressure Treasury yields.

6. Wall St futures tick up heading into July inflation data - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 10:24

Wall Street futures edged higher ahead of July inflation data, with investors positioning for the CPI release to gauge Federal Reserve policy direction.

7. US consumer prices likely increased moderately in July as gasoline prices eased - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 04:02

US consumer prices likely rose moderately in July, aided by easing gasoline costs, which could support expectations for a softer inflation print and potential rate cuts.

8. Dollar gains, yen slips as US CPI meets expectations - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 00:57

The dollar strengthened and the yen weakened after US CPI met expectations, reducing bets on aggressive Fed easing and shifting currency flows.

9. Wall Street ends down as US-Iran peace optimism fades - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-11 23:17

Wall Street closed lower as optimism over US-Iran peace faded, reigniting geopolitical risk and weighing on equities.

10. Morning Bid: Hot spots sizzle, CPI looms - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-08-12 04:32

Markets are focused on escalating geopolitical hot spots and upcoming CPI data, with crude prices and risk assets sensitive to both developments.

Hot Now

- XLE — Strong gains across 1d, 5d, and 1m, indicating robust momentum.
- XLB — Positive returns across all timeframes, with solid 1m performance.
- XLV — Consistent positive momentum, especially over 5d and 1m.

Cold but Worth Watching

- XLU — Negative 1m and 5d, but positive 1d suggests potential short-term bounce.
- XLRE — Negative across all timeframes, but oversold conditions may attract value buyers.
- XLP — Negative 5d and 1m, but stable 1d could signal stabilization.

Cyclical sectors like energy and materials are leading, while defensive sectors like utilities and real estate are lagging, suggesting a risk-on sentiment with potential for mean-reversion in oversold areas.

Daily Conclusion

Persistent geopolitical supply disruptions are keeping energy and defensive sectors bid while rate-sensitive and defensive-rotation trades lag, reinforcing a macro regime defined by elevated oil-driven inflation risk.
