⚠️ Major Anomalies

ETH-USD — Ethereum `-3.82%`

Cause: Ethereum sold off as crypto risk appetite weakened, with no supportive headline in the list and broader digital-asset positioning unwinding alongside other risk assets.

Forward Impact: ETH remains highly correlated to Bitcoin and macro liquidity, so direction will hinge on crypto-specific flows and Fed policy rather than the listed headlines.

SLV — Silver ETF `-3.45%`

Cause: Silver dropped more than gold as the same safe-haven unwind hit the higher-beta precious metal, with industrial-demand concerns adding to the selloff.

Forward Impact: Silver's dual precious/industrial role means it will likely keep underperforming gold unless manufacturing data improves or geopolitical risk spikes.

UNG — Natural Gas ETF `+3.37%`

Cause: Natural gas rallied on supply-risk premium tied to Middle East tensions and the Saudi missile interception, which raised concerns about regional energy infrastructure and shipping routes.

Forward Impact: UNG gains are fragile and weather/supply-driven; sustained upside requires actual supply disruption, otherwise the risk premium can deflate quickly.

GLD — Gold ETF `-2.68%`

Cause: Gold fell as a risk-off bid faded and traders rotated toward energy and equities amid mixed geopolitical headlines, with the Saudi missile-debris report and Iran compensation demand failing to spark safe-haven demand.

Forward Impact: Gold remains sensitive to Middle East escalation and Fed rate expectations, so further de-escalation could extend losses while any direct US-Iran confrontation would quickly reverse the move.

🔥 Sector Heat Map

Hot Now

- Healthcare — Consistent gains across all timeframes (1d +0.3%, 5d +2.6%, 1m +9.8%) with the strongest 1-month momentum, signaling defensive leadership
- Consumer Staples — Steady positive momentum across every window (1d +0.1%, 5d +2.3%, 1m +7.8%) reflecting classic risk-off rotation into staples
- Consumer Discretionary — Best 5-day gain (+3.2%) alongside a solid +7.8% 1-month, showing resilient consumer demand despite macro uncertainty

Cold but Worth Watching

- Technology — Deepest 1-month drawdown (-14.0%) and negative 5d (-4.3%), but oversold conditions could set up a mean-reversion bounce if rates stabilize

- Energy — Sharp 5-day collapse (-6.7%) and -5.8% 1-month make it the most beaten-down cyclical, with potential snapback on any oil/commodity stabilization
- Communication Services — Strong 5-day rebound (+6.2%) against a -3.3% 1-month suggests early bottoming and improving near-term momentum worth monitoring

> Defensive rotation dominates as healthcare and staples lead while high-beta tech and energy sell off, pointing to a risk-off, late-cycle market regime.

💡 Daily Conclusion

> Defensive rotation into healthcare and consumer staples alongside safe-haven metals (GLD, SLV) signals risk-off sentiment, amplified by OPEC+ supply normalization pressuring energy and weighing on tech and crypto.
