1. UK 30-year gilt yields top 6% for the first time since 1998 - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 11:23

UK 30-year gilt yields surpassed 6% for the first time since 1998, reflecting a deepening global bond selloff. The move raises UK government borrowing costs and pressures mortgage pricing. It signals investors demanding higher compensation for long-dated UK debt. The yield milestone underscores broader sovereign duration risk repricing.

2. Oil jumps 4% on reports China halts fuel exports, US troops head to Middle East - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 01:10

Oil prices jumped 4% on reports China halted fuel exports and US troops deployed to the Middle East. The dual supply and geopolitical shocks tightened crude market expectations. Higher energy prices risk feeding into inflation and complicating central bank easing paths. Traders priced elevated Middle East risk premiums.

3. Three oil tankers hit by projectiles in Hormuz strait on Tuesday, Marisks says - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 06:17

Three oil tankers were struck by projectiles in the Strait of Hormuz on Tuesday, according to Marisks. The incident threatens a critical chokepoint carrying roughly a fifth of global oil supply. Shipping and insurance costs for Gulf crude are likely to rise. Escalation risk supports higher crude prices and volatility.

4. UK homeowners take a hit as global bond selloff deepens - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 15:33

UK homeowners face higher mortgage costs as the global bond selloff deepens. Rising gilt yields feed directly into fixed-rate mortgage pricing. The pass-through pressures household disposable income and housing demand. It also complicates the Bank of England's inflation and growth tradeoff.

5. The September jobs report will be released Friday. Here's what to expect

CNBC — 2026-10-01 18:55

The September nonfarm payrolls report is due Friday, with Wall Street expecting 84,000 jobs and unemployment holding at 4.1%. August payrolls rose 162,000 with upward revisions. Average hourly earnings are forecast at 3.1% year-over-year, down from about 4% earlier in the year. Fed officials signaled no urgency for another hike, cutting odds for an October move and shifting expectations toward December.

6. Iran readies harder retaliation if attacked as diplomacy faces long odds - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 11:22

Iran is preparing harder retaliation if attacked as diplomatic efforts face long odds. The heightened threat raises the risk of direct conflict involving Iran and its proxies. Markets may price higher oil risk premiums and regional instability. Any escalation could disrupt Gulf shipping and energy infrastructure.

7. US sanctions target Iran's auto, rail sectors as blockade chokes ship lanes - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 20:52

The US imposed sanctions on Iran's auto and rail sectors as a blockade chokes ship lanes. The measures tighten economic pressure on Tehran beyond energy and finance. Shipping disruptions raise freight and insurance costs for regional trade. Escalation risk supports oil prices and Gulf risk premiums.

8. Japan's prime minister says her policies will boost confidence in the yen after U.S. intervention falls short

CNBC — 2026-10-01 11:13

Japan's Prime Minister said her policies will boost confidence in the yen after prior intervention fell short. The yen was the G10's top performer in Q3, gaining 3.3% versus the dollar after a joint US-Japan intervention and a BOJ 25bp September hike. USD/JPY traded at 158.37, down from above 163 in late July but up about 7.65% year-over-year. Strategists warn another oil spike could reverse risk sentiment and that intervention alone won't sustain a yen recovery. Japan holds over $1.1 trillion in Treasuries, making yen weakness a concern for US policymakers.

9. Indian benchmark shares post longest weekly losing run in 25 years - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 02:25

Indian benchmark shares posted their longest weekly losing streak in 25 years. The sustained decline reflects persistent foreign outflows and weak domestic sentiment. Prolonged equity weakness pressures valuations and capital-raising plans. It signals broad risk aversion toward Indian equities.

10. Most Gulf bourses edge lower on mixed US-Iran cues - Reuters

Reuters — 2026-10-01 13:10

Most Gulf bourses edged lower on mixed US-Iran cues. Regional equities tracked uncertainty over escalation and diplomatic signals. Oil-linked sentiment and geopolitical risk drove cautious positioning. Gulf markets remain sensitive to Hormuz shipping and energy supply headlines.

Hot Now

- Technology (XLK) — Only sector positive across all three timeframes, with +5.1% 1m leadership showing persistent relative strength.

Cold but Worth Watching

- Financials (XLF) — Financials down 7.1% 1m, the second-worst performer, but rate-sensitive and could rebound if yields stabilize.
- Materials (XLB) — Materials down 7.2% 1m, the worst performer, with steep 5d decline suggesting oversold mean-reversion potential.
- Real Estate (XLRE) — Real Estate down 6.5% 1m and 2.2% 5d, deeply oversold rate-sensitive sector poised for a bounce if rate expectations ease.

Defensive rotation is punishing cyclicals and rate-sensitive sectors while Technology stands alone as the sole momentum leader.

Daily Conclusion

With no major macro surprises or outsized moves, the dominant theme is a tech-led market quietly absorbing the shock of UK 30-year gilt yields topping 6% for the first time since 1998, while financials, materials, and real estate lag.
